

First-day reunion glimpse of future

FOR Luke Pavett, Bailey Frost and Will Cronin their first day at St Paul's Catholic College was also a reunion.

Bailey and Will were born on the same day and Luke one week later.

Although they don't remember their first meeting, their mums certainly do because it was at their first mothers' group meeting at Dee Why and the start of a long friendship for the three women.

Luke, Bailey and Will may have attended different primary schools but they played soccer together for the Cromer Magpies and have remained firm friends.

The boys' mothers still meet on a regular basis with all their children, so when they met up on first day at high school the three quickly joined together as mates.

But next week, when their school holds two transition days at Freshwater Surf Club, they will be encouraged to get to know a wider range of classmates and continue the spirit of mateship that has been characteristic of St Paul's students for 80 years.

As three of the 124 new Year 7 St Paul's students they are looking forward to making new friends and carrying those friendships into the future.
